

Hypothesis: If the layers in the filter are finer, more grams of impurities will be removed because there is more chance that the impurities will get blocked by the filter.